Nancy Woolley is a graduate of the University of Virginia with a Master's in Literature. She has ten years of experience working with Tutoring and ESOL centers around the country.

Nancy is dedicated to education, and convinced that a strong foundation in reading is important for all aspects of life. As a newcomer to Wilmington, she first joined the CFLC community as a volunteer tutor in 2011. After working with several students and seeing firsthand the need for adult literacy resources in the area, she was delighted to become a part of the staff in 2014.
