FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: Cape Fear Literacy Council Announces Yasmin Tomkinson as Interim Executive Director

The Cape Fear Literacy Council's Board of Directors is excited to announce the recent promotion of Yasmin Tomkinson as Interim Executive Director. Yasmin has served as the Adult Literacy Program Director at the Literacy Council for the last ten years. Ms. Tomkinson holds an undergraduate degree from Vassar College and an MBA from Boston University. She is excited to use her extensive experience to help the agency grow and thrive in the community.

For the past six months Susan Pomeroy, as Executive Director, has helped the agency focus on improved and updated operational and programming concepts. Rachel Pace, Board Chair, says "Susan's leadership and work with the board of directors has prepared the agency for a successful 2015 and beyond."

"This is an important time of opportunity and potential growth for the Cape Fear Literacy Council. It is with great confidence and enthusiasm that I have recommended that Yasmin step in to this new role," says Ms. Pomeroy. She adds that she remains committed to supporting the agency in its mission of working to eradicate illiteracy in the Cape Fear region.

Ms. Pomeroy will remain affiliated with the Cape Fear Literacy Council both as a volunteer tutor and an operations consultant to the Board of Directors.
